Rapid Response Activities:
The U.S. Department of Labor designed Rapid Response to provide assistance to employers and employees affected by industry declines, economic dislocations, and natural disasters by quickly maximizing public and private resources minimizing the disruptions on companies, affected workers, and communities that are associated with the job loss.
13 Rapid Response Formula Strategies	796,724		796,724	716,124		716,124	(80,600)
Rapid Response strategies are conducted by Economic & Workforce Development Department (EWDD) staff, who respond to Worker Adjustment Retraining Notifications (WARNs) issued by employers regarding impending business closures and worker layoffs, and to companies laying off who are not required to file with the State or local officials that are found via staff research and partner networks.  When a layoff is announced, EWDD dispatches its team of Rapid Response Coordinators to make contact with the employer to assess the closure and scope, such as size and duration of the layoff. EWDD staff then develops a plan for delivery of a wide array of reemployment services (such as career counseling, résumé preparation and interviewing skills workshops, job search and job placement assistance and job training), and information on unemployment insurance, and COBRA/HIPAA/ERISA benefits. These services are provided in collaboration with Employment Development Department, WorkSource Centers, Department of Labor (DOL), and other partners.

14 Rapid Response Layoff Aversion Strategies	401,612		401,612	301,612	-	301,612	(100,000)
Layoff Aversion is a required strategy under Rapid Response typically implemented in partnership with economic development and business associations. The intent is to offer assistance to companies that request it and to save jobs. To save jobs, a Rapid Response team must be able to identify an at-risk company well in advance of layoffs, get executive level commitment to work together, assess the needs of the company, and deliver services to address risk factors. Activities include:  * Identifying "at risk" businesses that exhibit stress factors such as low credit rating, bankruptcy declaration, history of making late payments, and/or any other factor(s) that indicate that the business is at risk;  * Providing individualized services based on need;  * Convening regional meetings to create "early warning systems" alerting partners about problem areas/industries;  * Creating action plans and referring at-risk businesses to appropriate resources/workshops; and  * Tracking, documenting, and reporting services rendered.  The State (EDD) has established that layoff aversion also occurs when services that lead to a short-term unemployment of less than 45 days from the layoff date are provided to a dislocated worker. To this end, employers with immediate hiring needs are identified and a list maintained to match them accordingly.  Potential contractors may include, but are not limited to, the following entities:  Contractor #1: Economic Development Corporation of Los Angeles County (LAEDC)  A. 15 Employer Engagement
WIOA law stresses greater involvement of employers in state and local workforce development planning activities, and also establishes new regulations to measure how well the public workforce system is meeting employers' needs. The Customer Relation Management (CRM) tool developed for EWDD facilitates the outreach, tracking, reporting, and regional collaboration efforts.			-	•		-	-

SYSTEM ENHANCEMENTS
This is a five-year demonstration project funded by the Department of Labor's Workforce Innovation Fund (WIF). The term of the WIF grant is October 1, 2014 to September 30, 2019. As a demonstration project, this activity targets individuals facing significant barriers to work. Program participants were randomly assigned to a control group or a treatment group. The project measures the extent to which individuals receiving services as part of the treatment group have improved employment outcomes compared to the control group participants. Building on the model of social enterprise, LA:RISE stimulates job acquisition and retention for 500 individuals who make up the hardest to serve populations – those with a history of homelessness, incarceration, and disconnected youth. This innovative initiative was the first of its kind to integrate employment, social enterprise, and specialized services within the workforce system. LA:RISE's goal was to change the way business, government, and nonprofits work together in transforming the lives of people and communities with the power of a job.  LA:RISE is a strategic collaborative that includes the City and the Roberts Enterprise Development Fund (REDF) providing the required planning and project management activities for the period of 60 months. Direct services to participants over the course of 36 months are provided by Goodwill Industries of Southern California, the Coalition for Responsible Community Development, Archdiocesan Youth Employment Services, the Regents of the University of California, Chrysalis Enterprises, the Downtown Women's Center, Homeboy Industries, Los Angeles. Evaluation services for the full grant period of 60 months are provided by Social Policy Research Associates (SPRA).
Funded initially in 2014 by a U.S. Department of Labor Workforce Innovation Fund (WIF) grant, LA:RISE brings together social enterprises, workforce agencies, retention specialists, and employers to help the hardest to serve populations- those with a history of homelessness or incarceration and disconnected youth-to re-enter and succeed in the workforce. Participants receive transitional employment at a social enterprise along with WorkSource counseling, support, and training they need to succeed in the workplace. Under the LA:RISE initiative, individuals progress from transitional, subsidized employment, to bridge, unsubsidized and/or competitive employment in the open labor market.  The City General Fund LA:RISE project will deliver workforce development services to a minimum of 340 individuals facing significant barriers to employment.  DOL WIF funds have been obligated through September 30, 2019 for program evaluation services.		1,800,000	1,800,000		1,800,000	1,800,000
